

WALCOM USA

WALCOM USA is the new American subsidiary of WALMEC, an Italian manufacturing company that has been supplying industrial spray equipment and compressed air tools since 1945.

In order to guarantee the highest quality, all products are designed, manufactured and tested in its headquarters in Italy. Through a passion for innovation and an investment in modern technology, Walcom has become recognised worldwide as one of the most durable and reliable brands in the spray equipment industry.

THERMODRY TECHNOLOGY

WALCOM USA has a complete line of high quality spray guns (from base, clear coat to primer and touch-up), air filtration systems, spare parts and accessories for professional auto body shops and other trades such as woodworking and decorative arts.

In order to help the transition to the new environmentally-friendly coatings as well as improve efficiency on the existing ones, WALCOM has developed and patented THERMODRY

TECHNOLOGY (TD3). This is the first product in the market that allows the painter to use filtered, heated and thermo-regulated (through a double heating action) compressed air, which maximizes results by eliminating environmental factors both in the booth and from external weather conditions. Painters will immediately feel the difference in terms of faster drying time, better paint flow-out, lower paint consumption and higher application speed. In addition, TD3 is the only product in the market that automatically regenerates silica-gel through an automatic air flow inversion process. It is very user friendly and requires very low maintenance.

Customers can expect significant improvement in the quality of work when using both waterborne and solvent based paints.

DISTRIBUTION

WALCOM USA is the only company authorized to distribute Walcom products in the North American Market. The mission is to back up technological and professional products with service, through a pool of dedicated and experienced professionals and a network of Sales Reps involved in the field.
